But those who stay on the path over time, there comes an inevitable meeting with the shadow. It usually arrives as an encounter with a dark aspect of ourselves or with the dark side of a teacher or institution. This "dark night of the soul" is the subject of Part 2, which serves as a practical guide for disillusioned believers.

Meeting the shadow : the hidden power of the dark side of ...

The shadow self hides the light, our unique essence, what makes us who we are. It effectively creates more shadow and less light. As we work with the shadow and release it ' s hold over our lives, we free up and meet the light hidden within. This gives us more of our unique self, more of our own light to create what we truly want. For example, the person who is shut off sexually due to fear of annihilation of self, may find that the shadow was trying to keep them safe, in control, and from ...

Meeting the shadow (1991 edition) | Open Library

The “ shadow ” is a concept first coined by Swiss psychiatrist Carl Jung that describes those aspects of the personality that we choose to reject and repress. For one reason or another, we all have parts of ourselves that we don ’ t like—or that we think society won ’ t like—so we push those parts down into our unconscious psyches.

Shadow Self and Carl Jung: The Ultimate Guide to the Human ...

In Jungian psychology, the shadow is either an unconscious aspect of the personality that the conscious ego does not identify in itself; or the entirety of the unconscious, i.e., everything of which a person is not fully conscious. In short, the shadow is the unknown side. From one perspective, the shadow "is roughly equivalent to the whole of the Freudian unconscious;" and Carl Jung himself asserted that "the result of the Freudian method of elucidation is a minute elaboration of man's shadow-s
